Scenes At Crash Of Passenger Plane At LaGuardia Field

SILHOUETTED AGAINST HIS BURNING PLANE, pilot Capt. Benton Baldwin (arrow above), who was thrown clear when the giant DC-4 airliner he was piloting crashed during takeoff at LaGuardia Field, N. Y., walks dazedly toward his flaming ship. The disaster caused death to 39 and serious injury to nine others who were aboard the ill-fated ship.

WITNESSES TELL OF SEEING TRAGIC DC-4 CRASH IN WOOD AS 53 ABOARD DIE INSTANTLY

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., May 31—Grim investigators today pried together the burned and broken bodies strewn along a wooded hillside last night when a four-engine airliner suddenly plunged from 1,000 feet and killed all 53 aboard.

It was the worst disaster in the history of U. S. commercial aviation. Forty-nine passengers, one of them a babe in its mother's arms, and four crew members were aboard the Eastern Airlines DC-4 on a non-stop flight from Newark, N. J., to Miami, Fla.

Three eyewitnesses said the giant plane exploded in the air. Two said it turned on its back and dived to the ground.

At midnight the searchers had located 35 bodies, reverently placed them in a small opening in the woods and covered them with sheets.

Two mobile Army spotlights illuminated the tiny valley where the DC-4 had cut a path of horror through a stand of sturdy eight-inch trees.

Three Children Found

Rescue workers said the bodies of three children were found in the wreckage.

Early arrivals at the scene, many of them momentarily overcome by the sight of dismembered bodies, crumpled segments of plane, and clothing strewn pitifully from tree branches, said the debris was scattered for hundreds of yards.

Piloting the DC-4, which left Newark at 4:55 p. m. and was last reported by the Philadelphia control tower at 6:27 p. m., was 40-year-old William E. Conely of Miami, who during the war was commander of the Navy's famous Mars flying boat.

K. V. Willingham of Miami was co-pilot, Theodore Lindstrom of Newark was purser, and Helena M. O'Brien of Newark was the stewardess.

A body, believed to be that of Captain Conely, was found clutching a piece of metal which state troopers said "probably" was the throttle handle.

Rescuers told of finding the mutilated body of a woman clutching the body of a baby. They were identified by Michael Rosenberg of Newark as his sister, Mrs. Edward Stuart of Miami, and her year-old son, Michael.

Honeymooners Killed

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Baush of Orange, N. J., enroute to Florida on their honeymoon, also were listed among the dead.

Another reported victim was Norman Mackay, commercial manager of radio station WDAY at Coral Gables, Fla., who friends said was on the flight as a guest of EAL.

Descriptive of the force of the crash was the report of Farmer George McMillen, who said he was watching the plane when he saw a flash of light.

"Flew Like Buzzards"

"Pieces of the thing flew up into the sky like turkey buzzards taking to the air," said McMillen.

The cab officials who witnessed the crash were Col. Robert Garrett, senior air carrier accident investigator, and John Chamberlain, assistant director of the safety bureau. They and two other officials were in a government DC-3 enroute to Washington from La Guardia field, New York.

RELATIVES TRY IDENTIFICATION OF CRASH DEAD

Officials Blame Wind's Sudden Shift For New York Crash

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 31—Relatives and friends sought today to complete identification of 40 persons killed in the holiday weekend crash of a DC-4 airliner near La Guardia field, which United Air Lines said probably was caused by a freak gust of wind "of almost unbelievable suddenness."

The other eight persons on the plane, which crashed and burned before a takeoff for Cleveland Thursday night, remained in hospitals, five of them in critical condition.

J. A. Herlihy, vice-president of operations for United Air Lines, said last night in a statement that the pilot had tried to halt the plane when it failed to lift.

A preliminary civil aeronautics board report also said the pilot attempted to stop the plane, whose crash was the nation's worst commercial airline disaster until last night's crash in Maryland which took 53 lives.

Study Weather Conditions

"A study of weather conditions which prevailed at the time Herlihy said, 'indicates that the probable cause of the accident was a wind shift of almost unbelievable suddenness.'"

Herlihy said the direction of the takeoff—being attempted as the New York area had thunderstorm clouds, rain and strong wind gusts—was away from a "squall-line" which was visible in the west.

It is believed, he said, "that a freak gust of wind slightly in advance of the approaching squall-line was responsible for the accident. To my knowledge, this has never before caused a fatal accident to a plane of this type or, in fact, to any large transport plane."

Herlihy quoted the pilot, Capt. Benton R. Baldwin of New York City, who was hospitalized, as saying he "could not gain enough air speed to lift the plane off the runway prior to using up a considerable portion of the runway."

Applied Brakes

"Seeing that he was not going to be able to make a safe takeoff," Herlihy continued the quotation, "he commanded the first officer to cut all power while he applied full brakes and attempted to ground loop (turn sideways) the plane."

His efforts were unsuccessful and the plane rolled through the boundary of the airport, across Grand Central parkway, and came to rest in swampy ground just south of the

Colorful Parade, Programs Mark Memorial Day Here

Salem took time out Friday to pay homage to its war dead, observed with a colorful two-sectioned parade of veterans' and patriotic organizations and two bands and Memorial Day services at both Hope and Grandview cemeteries.

The parade featured the American Legion Quaker City band and the Salem High school band, directed by George Chappell and C. M. Brautigam respectively.

In addition, Boy and Girl Scouts, city officials, all patriotic organizations and school children took part in the parade.

Rev. Raymond's Address

The theme of Rev. Louis Raymond's address at Grandview cemetery was "The Earth Is Our Fair Monument."

He pointed out that it is for the young men who died in the wars, the men who had no time in this world to build a monument for themselves, that we observe Memorial Day.

"There is the death that comes after life's work has been completed. That life, however, leaves behind it its monuments of achievement and a house well-built, a family well-fed and children well-reared."

"For those who had time to build their own monuments, we need no day of remembrance. Every day is a day of remembrance."

"Greater emphasis was placed upon those who died and who had not time to build their own monuments. These are the ones who need our joint remembrances. The young men who never had time to build for themselves."

"We must build upon the foundations they laid at so great a price and the greatest monument we can erect to their memory is a fruitful, decent, and peaceful earth—the dream for which they died."

Rev. Molyneux Speaks

In his talk at Hope cemetery, Rev. David Molyneux pointed out the three basic reasons why we celebrate Memorial Day.

First, the spirit of Memorial Day is honor and respect for the heroic dead of America's wars. The graves that shelter the mortal remains of America's dead in this land and across the seas are places where reside America's glory.

"Second, the spirit of Memorial Day is a thorough-going love of country. I know that it has become the custom of the time to laugh at

Going To Grass

Fear of catastrophe is taking root in the thoughts of weather critics. Too much rain too long continued is more than an inconvenience.

Ohio's crop loss to date is estimated at 25 percent by competent observers. The loss could become 50 percent if excessive rain continues another fortnight, at the climax of the planting season. These percentages do not refer to money, but to yields—food needed to sustain a hungry world. There will be grass in abundance this year, but going to grass cannot stave off international famine.

The war is over. The hunger has just begun. The most unfavorable planting season in memory, in the heart of the world's grocery basket, is an ill omen. Instead of complaining about the weather, praying about it might be wiser.

Death and Taxes

Republicans in Congress intend to reduce wartime taxes. So do Democrats. All they're bickering about is who should get the credit. Unfortunately, some taxpayers have misunderstood what is going on and persuaded themselves that taxes shouldn't be reduced at all, but kept where they are.

The misguided taxpayers' muddled reasoning seems to be that death and taxes are inevitable, therefore a patriot should yield to them with enthusiasm, or at the very least with cheerful resignation. There apparently is no way to change their minds about this. Events will do that later. Tax rates are not theoretical, but bear close relation to the taxpayers' ability to bear them.

The war boom is over. Congress is making its guesses on the leaner shape of things to come. The Treasury Department is guessing; everybody is guessing. Republicans and Democrats are guessing. Only one thing is certain to be the way they are saying it will be: money will be harder to get hold of than it was when close to half the population was breaking all income records.

Tax rates on any basis other than outright confiscation to destroy taxpayers will have to be tempered to the shorn taxpayers. The only question is how much. No one trying to make a reasonable guess about the events of the next year thinks there is any possibility that Congress will reduce taxes too much. Taxpayers will be surprised if Congress manages to cut them enough to keep pace with declining ability to pay.

We Believe It or We Don't

Over-eager praise of Herbert Hoover's separate-peace proposal is coming from those who are over-lythly to show disapproval of Russia.

Before these indignant citizens cut off America's nose to spite Joe Stalin's face, there are a few things to consider.

One is the United Nations. Americans either believe in the principle of collective security, or they don't. One more unilateral gesture at this time would be the last straw.

Another is the folly of pretending that a peace agreement with a fraction of an occupied country (Germany) or without the collaboration of all belligerents (Japan) would hold water, even in the present state of international law.

Still another is the damage to the word of the United States, which pledged itself to make no separate peace agreements. What little honor still exists in international relations should be preserved.

The biggest thing to consider, however, is the morale of the American people. This republic was founded on Christian principles and is theoretically responsive to them. Either we believe in these principles or we don't—and if we do this government will continue to turn the other diplomatic cheek to the Soviet Union until the latter breaks off all further diplomatic relations.

No matter how exasperating the Russians may be in diplomacy, the United States will give them the benefit of every doubt. It will give them every conceivable chance to act in good faith for advancement of cooperative security. It will guard itself zealously against making any move that could be construed as an overt gesture of hostility against Russia.

Patience and forbearance may make no impression on the Kremlin. But they can do no harm, and they will make a tremendous impression on the people of the United States. If war must be the outcome of Russian irreconcilability, the blame must be where it belongs—on the irreconcilables.

Give Some Names

The congressional subcommittee on un-Americanism reports "some of the most flagrant Communist propaganda films were produced as a result of White House pressure." What are some of these flagrantly Communist films? Give some names.

So far the only film mentioned has been "Song of Russia." If that is the most subversive item the subcommittee has been able to uncover, it might as well close its brief-cases and go back to Washington. Let's not kid ourselves. "Song of Russia," "Days of Glory," "The City That Stopped Hitler" and "Moscow Strikes Back," along with possibly a dozen other films, were part of a national wave of sympathy felt for Russia from 1941 to 1945. The United States was cheering hard for Russia in those days and we shipped her billions' worth of supplies.

Such film stories may have been written by authors whose first allegiance was to the Communist International and they may have been produced as a result of White House pressure. But they are not enough to pin the Communist tag on anybody.

A vacation is what usually starts several days before you leave your job and lasts several days after you get back.

The Stars Say
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 1

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds augury of a rather disagreeable and unpleasant condition, possibly precipitated by rash, reckless impetuous and temperamental conduct affecting all close relationships of life, regrettably and unhappily. A calm effort should be made to take firm hold of tongue, temper and other indignant and extravagant behavior, lest much lasting harm be done.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves keyed to a violent, rash, intemperate and impetuous course of action, with fatal and long-range consequences for progress. Strong reactions of such irrepressible conduct may have disastrous effect upon private, domestic and business relations as well as upon the personal health and security. Shun accidents, explosions and excesses of all kinds.

A child born on this day may be high-strung, passionate and aggressive, to the detriment of its happiness and career.

For Monday, June 2

Monday's astrological forecast is for a rather precarious state of affairs as they are concerned with finances, investments, assets, and any desire for expansion, progress and growth. There are signs of pitfalls and false values in which it might be easy to become involved in losses and entanglements in which others are vitally concerned. Over-expansive or enlarged ideas might prove wasteful of assets and energies and eventually of reputation and peace of mind.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which there are hazardous and difficult situations involving business, finances and credit, growth and security.

There seems to be an undercurrent of complication with the affairs and interests of others, who are involved in cooperative objectives, with expansion and large gains subject to over-inflationary ideas and ill-advised judgment. These are impelled by extravagant and reckless notions, with little effort to count the cost, either in funds, energies and reputation.

A child born on this day may have ability and ambition but its tendency to over expansive and extravagant ideas may prove its undoing and detriment.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Dangers of Self-Medication

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FEW things are more dangerous than trying to be your own doctor. Now, I know as well as you do that no sensible man is going to try to take out his own appendix, but I also know that thousands who consider themselves very sensible people indeed are every day doing other, scarcely less hazardous things in their attempts at self-medication without at all realizing the dangers involved.

Take for instance the matter of nose drops.

Number of Preparations

For some time we have had a number of these preparations which, when used in the nose, shrink the lining membrane and relieve congestion. Properly used, they are a great boon and most helpful in relieving symptoms due to colds and sinus infections.

But now, unfortunately, many people, having discovered these helpful preparations, are using them without the physician's advice, in the wrong way and at the wrong times.

Too Constant Use

Through too constant use, the original nose drops soon lose their power to give relief. Then our self-doctors purchase stronger preparations. Sooner or later the condition of the nose becomes so bad that the drops are required every two or three hours. Many of these persons feel that, if they stop using the drops, they will be unable to breathe and unable to sleep at night.

This self-treatment and over-treatment of the nose causes rhinitis or nasal inflammation with congestion of the tissues over the bones in the nose, known as the turbinates. The lining membrane of the nose is pale and waterlogged and the discomfort becomes so acute that it drives the patient to the doctor he should have consulted in the first place.

Treating the Condition

In treating this condition the doctor, as a rule, completely stops the use of the nose drops. During the next three or four days the nose will be more stuffed up than usual but after this time the congestion will gradually disappear.

Usually after a week, according to Dr. Clifford F. Lake of the Mayo Clinic, the patient is able to breathe quite freely providing there is no deformity within the nose which blocks the air passages. During this period it may be necessary for the patient to have some nerve-quieting drug at bedtime.

Dr. Lake does not favor the use of nose drops except in particular cases and then only when prescribed by the doctor. For example, they may be employed before operations on the nose. They may be used for infants who are nursing, to relieve the symptoms of a cold so that the baby may breathe well enough to take his feeding.

Rather than use the nose drops, Dr. Lake favors the employment of cotton moistened with a silver preparation which is placed in the nose by the physician, and left in place for the proper period of time.

This tends to stimulate the flow of mucus from the nose and helps increase the drainage in cases of sinus infection and in the final stages of a cold. During the early part of a cold, hot wet cloths over the face often relieve the congestion and allow the patient to breathe better.

Remember that if nose drops are to be employed, the physician's advice should be followed concerning their use.

Von Papen Injured When Attacked by Prisoner

REGENSBURG, Germany, May 21 — A deNazification official said today that Franz Von Papen, serving eight years in a German prison as a convicted Nazi, was cuffed around by a deranged inmate of the prison hospital a week ago.

Von Papen, 68, former German chancellor and ambassador, was injured slightly. His assailant was a young SS trooper who had been in similar unexplained incidents before.

JEFFERSON, O., May 31—Two persons—who started their lives in the same hour 23 years ago—also said today they would also like to start their married lives in the same hour.

Applying for a marriage license at this Ashtabula county seat, Betty E. Ford of nearby Conneaut and Delmer C. Dague of Wheeling, W. Va., told a clerk both their birth dates were Aug. 23, 1921.

"We were born on the same hour of the same day," said Miss Ford, indicating that the "time twins" also wanted to begin their marriage careers "on the same hour of the same day."

Judge Chappell explained he worked his way through the University of Nebraska at the barber's trade and wanted the barber's license for sentimental reasons.

Painting Good For Child's Emotions, Instructor Claims

An article "Let's Personalize the Art Lesson" by Mrs. Ethel E. Headrick, art supervisor of Salem public schools, appears in the current issue of the magazine Ohio Schools. The publication is the official organ of the Ohio Education association.

In her article, Mrs. Headrick outlines the method used in teaching art classes in the elementary grades. She tells how art materials are handed out to children at the beginning of the period and how they begin to draw or paint with no prearranged children, she says, understand without being told that they draw whatever they want to.

During the actual drawing, the teacher sits quietly at one side of the room and the children come to her with their problems and drawings.

The child tells an excited little story about his picture. The teacher listens and shows by her comments that she is interested and enters into the spirit of it with him. This is all that is necessary. The child will talk himself into making a very interesting picture," the art instructor declares.

Mrs. Headrick points out that there are few disciplinary problems and that a "purging contentment" goes throughout the room. She feels that through painting the child gets some emotion out of his system that it would be dangerous to bottle up.

NAB BRITISH BRIDE FOR $7,900 THEFT

NEW YORK, May 31—A British bride was held in jail last night on a fugitive warrant from Erie, Pa., charging her with larceny of $7,900 from her husband's uncle, and her attorney declared the arrest was to force annulment of her marriage.

The bride was Mrs. Nancy Linda Katzman, 35, who married Dr. James Katzman, a former captain in the Canadian army, in London on Sept. 4, 1945.

Police said the telegraphic fugitive warrant accused her of obtaining $7,900 from Harry Katz, an Erie butcher. They said Erie police contended Mrs. Katzman had presented herself as an English heiress. Her attorney denied this. Dr. Katzman, a dentist, is the son of a cantor in Detroit, police said.

Joseph Tenner, attorney for Mrs. Katzman, said she had represented herself as Jewish to her husband's relatives but they recently learned she was Gentile. Last month, Tenner said, she learned that Dr. Katzman was seeking annulment of their wedding.

The attorney said Dr. Katzman planned to practice in Erie and it was at his request that his wife several months ago borrowed $6,000 and $1,000 from the uncle, giving notes for each loan. Tenner said she was given an additional $900 without a note.

St. Lawrence Water Project Plea Made By War Secretary

WASHINGTON, May 31—Undersecretary of War Kenneth F. Royall declares a proposed St. Lawrence seaway would give "easy access" to possible bases in Newfoundland and Greenland and reduce the submarine hazard in case of war.

The Army's position, he told a senate foreign relations subcommittee considering the project, is that it is "not vital to national defense" but would be "helpful to national defense."

He said points in favor of the half billion dollar development include:

1. It would provide a large additional source of electric power in the Great Lakes and adjacent regions.
2. This would "tend to increase America's overall industrial potential" and "it is perfectly possible that we would need this potential in another all-out conflict."
3. As a route to Europe it would be $1200 miles less ocean distance, thereby minimizing to some extent the risk and danger of submarine and other attack.
4. Increased use of water transportation and of waterpower as a substitute for coal-burning steam plants would relieve the threat of a rail bottleneck in event of a future war.

Royall said the army does not agree with opponents of the seaway who say it would make an invasion of this country easier.

Price War Drive Begun By Columbus Housewives

COLUMBUS, May 31—Columbus housewives — banded under the league of women shoppers—today prepared to gang up on President Truman to demand for a 25 percent across-the-board reduction in food prices.

Meeting in the city council chambers last night the women—and a few men—heard a panel discussion on "high prices" by a professor, a CIO official, and a housewife.

At its conclusion they adopted a motion to start a postcard campaign to senators and representatives to crusade for lower prices—plus forwarding of a resolution for the 25 per cent price cut direct to the President.

Radioactive Phosphorus Used In Farm Experiment

BERKELEY, Calif.—The use of atomic energy on the farm has become a reality.

University of California scientists reported today they had used radioactive phosphorus in a vineyard near Santa Rosa as a new and high accurate means of determining how plants use fertilizer.

Dr. Albert J. Ulrich, plant physiologist, Louis Jacobson, biochemist, and Dr. Roy Overstreet, soil expert, applied to a patch of vineyard a quantity of fertilizer containing the radioactive chemical.

The radiophosphorus was like any other phosphorus in fertilizer except that movements of the plant food would be traced with geiger counters.

Experimenters said they were able to determine from plant cuttings how much of the radiophosphorus was taken up by the vines and to what parts of the plant it went. This gives plant scientists an accurate picture of the extent to which plants will pick up added fertilizer and what parts of the plant are benefited most. Agricultural chemists may profit by producing fertilizers more nearly in line with plant requirements.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

The head of a woman's specialty store recently predicted that longer skirts this fall will make 80 per cent of the wardrobes of American women obsolete.

His figure may not be too high for Fifth Avenue, but here's a bet that it is 'way out of line for Main Street.

The Main Street matron isn't going to regard 80 per cent of the clothes in her closet obsolete for several good reasons.

While she will undoubtedly decide she has to have at least one new outfit to wear at such unofficial style shows as bridge parties, teas, and luncheons, she doesn't have to be a model of fashion every day in the week.

Then, too, the average woman is pretty ingenious when it comes to renovating clothes. She'll be able to do a lot by lowering hems, letting dresses down from the waist, and so on.

CAN'T AFFORD DISCARD

Besides, even if 80 per cent of her clothes should LOOK out of style to the average woman, she won't be able to afford to throw out that many good garments. That would leave her not much better off than the woman whose home burns down.

ON AND AFTER THIS DATE, MAY 31, 1947, I WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DEBTS CONTRACTED BY ANY PERSON OTHER THAN MYSELF.

ARTHUR D. SAFFELL

Mackmen Astonish Themselves With Two Wins Over Yanks

Now Rest In Thin Air Of Fifth Place, Hair Below Championship Red Hose

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Long-suffering Connie Mack clubs are dusting off their charts and rounding up forgotten brethren to celebrate the Philadelphia A's spurt into the thin air of fifth place in the American league.

The A's not only are in fifth place, but they're only a half game back of the Boston Red Sox, the defending champions.

Two straight shutout wins over the New York Yankees have focused baseball attention on the Macks who are only a game below the 500 mark in the won and lost department.

Pitching has been the answer to the Philadelphia success story which must have surprised even Mr. Mack himself. Pitching and the fine play of first baseman Ferris Fain, a Pacific coast league rookie who is hitting .297 and the all-around work of Shortstop Eddie Joost.

Dick Fowler and Freshman Joe Coleman teamed up on the Yankees yesterday in one of the eight double-headers that attracted a banner turnout of 283,530 fans. Fowler nosed out Spud Chandler, 1-0, in the opener although the A's touched Chandler for only three hits.

Coleman gave up nine hits in the second win, 4-0, striking 21. It was a first win for Coleman, who prepped at Toronto.

Detroit muffed a chance to lengthen its lead considerably by splitting with St. Louis. After Hal Newhouser defeated the Browns for the 14th straight time over a three-year stretch, 2-1. The Tigers succumbed to Nels Potter's wiles in the finale, 8-3.

Cleveland slid into second place by thumping Chicago twice, 5-4 in a slugfest and 9-1. The Venable Mel Harder started his 20th season with a five-hitter in the second game, won No. 218 of his career.

The Boston Red Sox spent an unhappy holiday in Washington losing two games to the Senators who routed Tex Hughson 13-6, and eked out a 5-3 nod over Joe Dobson in the finale. Sid Hudson and Mickey Haefner were the Washington victors with the help of six Sox errors.

National league activities again were highlighted by the Giants who swept two from the Philadelphia Phils, 7-1 and 5-3, to take a one-game lead in the tight race.

Warren Spahn preserved his unbeaten string, adding an eighth straight for Boston in their 6-3 first game success over Brooklyn. The Braves also took the second half, 3-0.

The double win boosted Boston into second-place tie with Chicago and the two setbacks dumped the Dodgers into fourth place. Earl Torgeson, Boston first baseman, tied an all-time record by playing the first game without a putout.

Hank Borowy got Chicago even for the day by copping his fifth in a row in the nightcap over Pittsburgh, 5-2, after Billy Cox's 10th inning homer had given Preacher Roe and the Pirates a first game 2-1 edge over Paul Erickson.

The St. Louis Cardinals failed to climb out of the cellar, splitting two with Cincinnati. After the Reds hopped on four Card hurlers for 15 hits to hand Ken Burkhardt a third loss, in the opener, 12-8, St. Louis came back behind Al Brazie, to defeat Lefty Kent Peterson, 7-3.

ROSE CAPTURES SPEEDWAY EVENT AS MOORE SLOWS

Switch In Last 17 Miles Puts Victor In On Pit Signals

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31—Mauri Rose of Chicago, a confident little guy with a black moustache and a big pipe, was down in the books today as a second-time winner in the 31st annual 500-mile race at Indianapolis Motor speedway, but the first two places should have been labeled "Lou Moore entry."

Rose and Bill Holland of Bridgeport, Conn., the No. 2 finisher, drove identical new four-cylinder cars owned by Lou Moore of Ventura, Calif., and called the Blue Crown spark plug specials.

Holland appeared headed for certain victory in his first speedway start as the last few laps were reeled off. Then Moore's pit crew waved a blackboard marked "Ezy" and Rose passed Holland with only 17 miles to run. Afterward there was loud talk behind the garage doors and Holland looked definitely unhappy.

Rose, going into the winner's pen, said he won only because Holland was slowed by engine trouble—that he meant to signal both cars to take it easy because they were well ahead of the field and he wanted them to finish.

The race, second fastest since the holiday event was inaugurated in 1911, cost the life of William (Shorty) Canton, veteran Indianapolis driver who finished second to Billy Arnold in 1930. Canton, 43-year-old bachelor and used car dealer, smacked the wall coming out of the southwest turn, trying to avoid a mixup that occurred when Holland skidded into the grass along the inside of the track.

The amazing Ted Horn of Paterson, N. J., driving the Maserati in which Wilbur Shaw twice won the race, claimed third money.

Cliff Bergere of Toledo, Ohio, 50-year-old veteran of 16 Indianapolis races, took fourth place.

Jimmy Jackson of Indianapolis, second last year in his first "500" finished fifth. Rex Mays, Glendale, Calif., was sixth; Newcomer Walt Brown, Massapequa, N. Y., seventh; Cy Marshall, Jacksonville, Fla., eighth; Duke Agabashian, another first-timer from Albany, Calif., ninth; and Fred Dinsmore, Osborne, Ohio, tenth.

Rose's winning speed was 116.338 miles an hour, second only to the late Floyd Roberts' 117.2 in 1938. The seven leaders all averaged more than 100 miles an hour.

Assault Fast Becoming Racing's Richest Horse

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 31—It was pretty generally agreed today that Assault is just about the hottest horse to come along since the folks were putting horse pot-roses in the oven and baking them at 350 degrees, Fahrenheit as a war-time emergency.

The Clugfoot Comet passed the half-million-dollar mark in earnings by taking the suburban at Belmont yesterday without even musing his hair. And today the Assault Cheering and Chowder society was insisting he's not only sure-pot to pass Whirlaway's $561,161 all-time money mark before July rolls round, but also that he can't miss becoming the first million-dollar breadwinner in racing history.

TRIBE PLUMMETS TO SECOND WITH TWIN VICTORIES

Mel Harder, Bob Lemon Get Marks In Book As Streak Goes to 3

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 31—The Cleveland Indians had rebounded into second place in the American league standings today, confounding their followers who had been led to believe they were going into their annual nose-dive.

After battering the Chicago White Sox 8 to 4 and 9 to 1 in a Memorial day twin bill, the Tribesmen enter a four-game series with the New York Yankees today on the crest of a three-game winning streak. They trail the pace-setting Detroit Tigers by three games.

Pitching highlight of the day was a neat five-hit performance by Mel Harder in the 9 to 1 triumph in the nightcap.

The other bright spot was the emergence of Hal Peck from a batting slump that had caused many a managerial worry. Peck smacked out two home runs and a single in the opener, driving in a total of three runs. The fly chaser added another single in the second game.

The first game triumph was of special satisfaction to the Indians, who slew a jinx of long standing. Ed Lopat, who had beaten the Indians 10 times in 11 previous starts, was battered off the mound during a four-run seventh inning rally.

Don Black opened for Cleveland in the first game but was belted for nine hits in four innings. Bob Lemon, who came to his rescue in the fifth, hurled two frames and received credit for the win. Les Willis twirled the final three frames and set the Sox down without a hit.

Salem VFW Wins Over Enon Valley

The Salem V.F.W. hardball nine defeated Enon Valley, Pa., 13-9 in a Memorial day game played at Dorlington, with Pitcher Bill Ritchie twirling five hit ball.

Anton Hrvatin collected three hits in six trips to the plate to pace the locals. Jim Garret and Henry Baisley each notched two bingles. A four run rally in the ninth clinched the contest for Salem.

The V. F. W. team will play a return game with Enon Valley at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Centennial park.

Polo Tomorrow—Maybe

Polo club officials have definitely cancelled the game Sunday with the Columbus Harbor Hills club but will play Akron at 3 p. m. tomorrow if the weather permits.

Rain today, tonight or tomorrow morning would make the Akron game impossible too, officials said.

However, if the weather remains good the game will be called at 3.

Althouse Team Open With Twin Killings

The Althouse Dodge team, some outfit of Lake Placencia, opened the 1947 season Memorial day with twin victory over the Akron Moore.

of information, who also was aboard, said Garrett and Chamberlain saw the ship "nose down in a very steep angle and go into the ground some three to five miles in front of them."

Searchers today collected all but one of the mutilated bodies and removed them over improvised trails to the nearby Bainbridge Naval Training center.

Comdr. J. S. Schmidt, duty officer at Bainbridge, said attempts to identify the dead would begin at 10 a. m. today under the supervision of Cecil County Coroner R. G. Dodson and an Eastern Airlines physician.

The crash in the Maryland hills climaxed 48 hours of air disaster around the world.

"Right Smack in Woods"

It came in low over the hills around this Northern Maryland community about 6:30 p. m., winged over and plummeted into a forest a short distance from the Susquehanna river.

"It went right smack into the woods," reported J. G. Higgins of Baltimore who was driving along a nearby highway. "Then there was a terrific sheet of flame, followed by a thick cloud of black smoke. Then there was a wisp of white smoke."

Eyewitnesses at Bainbridge and Port Deposit reported seeing the DC-4 passing over a few minutes before the crash. Although it was flying low, they said, and engines were roaring, the plane did not appear to be in trouble.

The explosions which followed the crash shook buildings four miles away. The fire burned for three hours and prevented rescuers from approaching the main section of the ship.

Clothing, debris scattered

Clothing and sections of the plane dangled from trees all around the tiny valley where the plane struck.

Hastily assembled rescue and fire fighting crews reached the burning wreckage within half an hour but it was evident from the first that there could be no survivors.

The stories of witnesses differed as to what actually happened just before the disaster, but most agreed that the transport suddenly winged over and headed for the earth.

The scene of the wreck was in the area known as Whitaker's Barrens, a short distance from the Susquehanna river.

Police, soldiers and sailors first had to hack paths through the underbrush to reach the plane. Then they began widening the paths into roads so that the bodies could be brought out after daylight.

The catastrophe was witnessed from the air by two Civil Aeronautics Board officials who today were among those investigating the cause—as yet unknown.

CAB Officials Witnesses

The CAB said it probably was the first time that a major air line crash has been witnessed by men who regulate the safety of air operations.

Dr. Robert C. Dodson, Cecil County medical examiner who labored through the night with Navy corpsmen and civilian volunteers, said:

"Not a single one of the victims can be identified. They are all burned or mutilated beyond recognition."

A Navy guard was posted for the night around the area as volunteers waited for daylight to complete their sorry task of locating bodies.

Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of Maryland police, after visiting the wreck said:

"That was the worst scene I have ever witnessed as a police officer."

Ober added it was scarcely conceivable that none of the dead escaped mutilation.

COLORFUL PARADE

patriotism and to call it the "last refuge of scoundrels." Let the world laugh at us then, if they dare to laugh in the face of such splendid patriotism as we commemorate this day.

Third, and finally, the spirit of Memorial Day is a dedication of a nation's will to a great ideal. The question has been upon our lips or unspoken upon our hearts. How long is the world to continue to pass through these grim Gethsemanes and Calvaries?

"How long are the sons and daughters of each generation to go down that same bloody road of war that our fathers walked before them? How long is the wealth of mankind to be dissipated in struggles that leave the victors and vanquished alike impoverished?"

"We suggest an answer: 'It will go on until the spirit of Memorial Day permeates the life of the world. It will go on until the world realizes that these men did not give their lives to perpetuate the insane institution of war.'

"These men fought for peace and for an opportunity for children to grow up in an atmosphere of security and serenity. And the world will have to dedicate itself to the pursuit of peace with the same zeal with which it has prosecuted war."

At Hope cemetery Shirley Smith delivered the Gettysburg address. Martha Whinnery gave "In Flanders Field," and Betty Whaley followed with a response. The three are high school students.

The Hope section of the parade was headed by the Quaker City band, resplendent in new green and "officer's pink" uniforms. Following the band were the color guard, president of day, aides and speakers, firing squad, Legionnaires, Sons of Union Veterans, city officials, GAR auxiliary, Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans and Sons of Union Veterans (in autos), American Legion auxiliary, Sons of the Legion, Junior auxiliary, Boy and Girl Scouts, school children and other organizations.

The line of march to Grandview included:

Color guard, High school band, marshal and aides, firing squad, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Dads of Foreign Service Veterans and VFW auxiliary.

Hundreds of people lined E. State st. to witness the processions, and many more attended the services at both cemeteries.

airport, whereupon it immediately burst into flame."

Approximately the same details were given in the preliminary CAB report to Washington, which was released here by George Gay, chief of the first region of the CAB.

The CAB report said in part: "Positive evidence of wind shift occurred during takeoff run. Pilot states no apparent malfunctioning of aircraft or engine. Pilot was advised of approaching wind shifts prior to takeoff."

According to reports of the crash, the pilot decided not to take-off when the four-engine plane, carrying 44 passengers and four crew members, had traveled 2,500 feet along the 3,500-foot runway.

Hearings into the cause of the crash will be held here, Gay said. In addition to the CAB, the disaster was being investigated by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the New York city police department's aviation bureau.

Two Died Later

The 40 dead included 38 passengers and two crew members. Extraordinary emotional control was exhibited by relatives as friends as they identified the dead at the morgue of Queens General hospital in Jamaica. Some came from distant cities, and were accompanied by police and three assistant medical examiners.

Jewelry and other personal belongings were assembled with data to aid in identification of bodies. Otherwise, the task would have been virtually impossible because no recognition.

Thirty-eight persons perished in the flames, and the death toll rose to 39 when Theodore A. Alvar, 23, Yonkers, N. Y., chemist, died in hospital early yesterday.

Navy Lieutenant in the war, boarded the plane bound for Cleveland where he was to have been married today.

His fiancée, Ruth Senter, Cleveland, flew here immediately after learning he was injured, arriving two hours after he died.

The toll rose to 40 early when a passenger, Charles J. Elinson, of East Elimhurst, Queens, died at Queens General hospital.

The CAB timed the crash at 7:30 p. m. (EST).
